SUITS.

2. The total number of suits instituted in all the civil courts of the province presents a striking increase of 14,363, from 138,005 in 1918 to 152,368 during the year under review. Nine thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine of these suits, representing over 68 per cent., or more than two-thirds of the supplement, appertain solely to the courts of munsifs under their ordinary powers. Notable increases of 3,425 and 1,118 also appear against court of small causes and subordinate judges' courts. In district judges' courts the rise of 31 was comparatively slight. The great bulk of this increase occurred under the head of suits for money or moveable property, distributed in the main over suits ranging between Rs. 100 and Rs. 500 in value. Suits for immoveable property rose by 1,126. Suits of every other recorded denomination also contribute in varying proportions to the rise, save the isolated one of suits not falling under any of the specified heads, which exhibits a trivial falling off of 50. The excess was shared without exception by all the judgeships within the jurisdiction of the High Court. Aligarh shows the heaviest increase, 2,027, as well as having the largest number of institutions. Other material increases were Agra, 1,706; Moradabad, 1,478; Budaun, 1,371; and Gorakhpur, 1,197. The last and the least of all was Ghazipur; but even here the number of suits instituted went up by 134.

Judicial statement no. 7.

Recovery from the devastating epidemics of plague, relapsing fever and influenza, coupled with a gradual transition from drought and scarcity to a more normal agricultural outlook, were the chief predisposing causes to the upward bound in institutions. In view of the more settled economic situation and the proclamation of peace after the war money-lenders seized the opportunity to file suits previously held back, the majority of which were for the recovery of money debts of Rs. 500 and under. The district judge of Allahabad notes that the rise in institutions in the court of small causes is probably due to the return of Anglo-Indian debtors at the conclusion of the war. In Cawnpore the increase in institutions is ascribed to house difficulty and commercial enterprise in the town, but very largely to extensive repudiation of forward contracts in the cloth market when prices fell at the end of 1918.

3. Disposals of original suits increased, the province over, by 10,624—a figure quite reasonably commensurate with the enlargement in institutions. The pending file went up by 4,379, of which Gorakhpur and Aligarh by themselves account for 1,734. This is not unduly excessive, side by side with the marked growth in institutions in these two judgeships; and the same applies to Bareilly, Agra and Allahabad where the number of pending files—582, 484, 18th December, 1918 to 13th April following, and Mr. L. Stuart from 14th April to 8th August, 1919.

The Hon'ble Mr. Justice C. Walsh proceeded on privilege leave from 15th July to 14th August, when Mr. W. Wallach, Barrister-at-Law, acted; later Hon'ble Mr. Justice Walsh was on extraordinary leave from 22nd October to 17th November, in which interval he was temporarily replaced by Mr. A. E. Ryves, Government Advocate. In the absence of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Muhammad Rafique, who was on furlough from the 27th October to 7th December, Mr. B. J. Dalal, I.C.S., Barrister-at-Law, and after him Mr. A. E. Ryves officiated as a Judge of the Court.

The Hon'ble Judge in the English department inspected as follows :—

District courts at Budaun.

District Judge's court at Agra.

Court of the Judge of Small Causes at Agra.

Courts of the Subordinate Judges at Agra and Pilibhit.

Court of the Munsif at Agra.

Record-room and Nazarat at Agra.

Office of the Subordinate Judge's Court at Pilibhit.

New Court building at Pilibhit.

The total number of appeals before the Court rose from 5,234 to 5,463, or by 229, towards which Letters Patent appeals contributed an increase of 115. The number of appeals pending at the end of the year rose from 3,308 to 3,581, of which 3,014 were pending for more than three months, as against 2,653 in the previous year. The number of appeals summarily dismissed under order XLI, rule 11 of the Code of Civil Procedure, rose from 539 to 683, an increase of 144.

APPLICATIONS FOR EXECUTION OF DECREES.

Judicial statement no. 11.

8. The number of applications rose by 7,877, from 138,556 in 1918 to 145,433 in the year of review—a natural corollary to the rise in institution of suits. Meerut, Moradabad and Bareilly show the greatest increases in applications for execution. Those in Pilibhit, Aligarh and Gorakhpur also increased to a marked extent. Every other judgeship contributes to the increase except Allahabad, in which there was a drop of 250.

The number of disposals throughout the judgeships rose in a trifling measure—from 110,039 to 110,617, or by 598 only; and the pending file at the close of the year mounted up to 26,228 from 20,494, or by 5,734. Meerut shows the largest increase in the pending file which stands at 3,974, the highest in the province. Moradabad appears next with 2,978, Aligarh with 2,879, Agra 2,395, and Gorakhpur 2,336. In all these judgeships, however, institutions were exceptionally high. Yet once more Pilibhit shows the lowest pending file of 206, a fact which is all the more noteworthy considering that the number of institutions approached a thousand more than the number instituted in the previous year. The percentage of fructuous applications throughout the judgeships was 48, the same as in 1918. Azamgarh is at the top of the list with a percentage of 71, an increase of 13 per cent. over last year's percentage. Next come Farrukhabad with 67, Ghazipur with 58, Mainpuri with 52, and Moradabad, Budaun, Cawnpore and Pilibhit each with 51. Aligarh shows the lowest percentage of 38 against 39 in 1918. Among subordinate judges' courts with high disposals the most satisfactory percentage in courts disposing of a large number of fructuous applications on the regular side are to be found in Mainpuri 87, Farrukhabad 81, and Budaun 80. The poorest figure in any subordinate judge's court on the regular side was 45 in the court of the Sessions and Subordinate Judge of Banda, the court of like jurisdiction in Muttra being a near second with 49. In munsifs' courts on the regular side six courts disposed of at least one hundred applications and yet showed a percentage of 70 or more fructuous. The Additional Munsif of Allahabad led the way with an excellent percentage of 89, followed by 85 to the credit of the Additional Munsif, Bareilly city, 83 to that of the Additional Munsif of Khurja, and 82 each the first Additional Munsif of Meerut and the Additional Munsif of Bulandshahr. At the opposite end of the scale come Meerut (2nd Additional Munsif) 21, Jalesar, Etah, and Sambhal 36 each, Khurja 32, Hamirpur 35, Lalitpur 38, Bulandshahr 39, and Jhansi, Bikaner, Banda and Moradabad (Haveli) 40 each. As usual, a low percentage is found on the small cause court side. The worst for any considerable volume of work is 26 per cent. of 2,569 applications disposed of by the Munsif of Bulandshahr. Other low percentages for small cause courts were 10 at Saharanpur, 17 at Agra, 21 at Meerut, 26 apiece at Khurja and Tilhar, and 24 at Shahjahanpur.

VILLAGE MUNSIFS.

9. The total number of courts was 242, one more than in the previous year. Of these, the number of courts actually working was 167 as against 173 in 1918. Of the 80 circles in the Gorakhpur district 41 remained vacant and two were united with other circles. Twelve village munsifs, of whom two are reported to have died, did no work. Thus there were only 25 active courts in the district. The employment of section 476 of the Code of Criminal Procedure against persons accused of bringing false claims supported by false evidence has, under the direction of the district judge of Gorakhpur, found its way into these courts as well. Such prosecutions will doubtless have a wholesome effect in staying the activities of dishonest litigants. In Budaun and Mainpuri much more use than in other districts continued to be made of village courts with, on the whole, satisfactory results. Notwithstanding the abolition of four courts in Budaun the village munsifs decided 357 more cases in 1919 than they did in the preceding year.

The number of suits instituted in village munsifs' courts rose from 10,688 to 13,259. Disposals, other than by transfer to the court of a regular munsif, also increased from 10,569 to 12,844. The increase therefore to 390 from 217 in the pending file was not disproportionately large, having regard to the higher institutions and disposals. The total value of the suits instituted rose from Rs. 1,96,108 to Rs. 2,56,531. Applications for revision against the decision of these courts were 38, as compared with 22 in the previous year. Of these, seven applications proved successful : only one application was remanded for further hearing.

HONORARY MUNSIFS.

10. There were 22 courts in existence during the year—the same number as the year before. The total number of suits decided rose from 5,125 to 5,596, of which 927 were contested, as compared with 690 in 1918. Khan Bahadur Sheikh Mohiuddin Haider, Honorary Munsif at Shekhupur in the Budaun district, again heads the list with the large number of 793 cases disposed of, of which 98 were contested. This gentleman, a leading rais and darbari of the district—who is also an Honorary Magistrate of mark—is deserving of special commendation for the able and whole-hearted manner in which he continues to apply himself to duty as a judicial officer in a gratuitous capacity. The Honorary Munsif of Shamsabad, Farrukhabad district, also did very well in deciding 737 cases, of which no less than 161 were contested. He was closely approached by the Bench of Honorary Munsifs at Farrukhabad, who accounted for 653 cases, including 175 with contest. The Honorary Munsifs of Muzaffarnagar, Gorakhpur, Pawayan and Saharanpur also produced satisfactory outturns.

GENERAL.

11. In accordance with the Amending Letters Patent, issued by Warrant under the King's Sign Manual on the eleventh day of March, 1919, the designation of the High Court was altered from the "High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces" to the "High Court of Judicature at Allahabad."

An order was issued under the provisions of section 25 of the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, no. XII of 1887, directing that the Agra munsifs be an area in which munsifs, if personally so empowered, might exercise the jurisdiction of a judge of a court of small causes under the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887. The small cause court jurisdiction of the subordinate judge, which extended throughout the district of Allahabad, was cancelled, the cantonment magistrate of Allahabad having been appointed to be judge of the court of small causes established within the Allahabad Cantonment (notifications nos. ^{240 and 245} ~~74-105~~, dated 10th March, 1919).

An Official Receiver under the Provincial Insolvency Act no. III of 1907 was appointed, as a permanent measure, for the three districts of Aligarh, Bulandshahr and Etah. A similar appointment for the space of one year was also made at Bareilly.

It is interesting to note that a desirable system of inspection by the Judge of the work of civil court amins at the close of every week, which was previously introduced at Allahabad, was continued by the present District Judge with satisfactory results.

The revised rates of increased pay recently sanctioned for ministerial and menial establishments will, it is hoped, afford a considerable measure of relief from the grinding pressure of inflated prices on former incomes which were manifestly low and inadequate.

The volume of civil litigation, as the statistics appended to this note disclose, was exceptionally large, and the subordinate courts are to be congratulated on their outturn, coupled as it was with a decrease on the whole in average duration and the maintenance of a fair standard of success on appeal. The unwonted rise in criminal work must also be mentioned as having added in a material degree to the labours of judicial officers exercising both civil and criminal powers.
